The chairman welcomes all the members of the monitoring committee. The members have reviewed the reports of all the committees. The proceedings adhered and not adhered to the code of conduct and ethics of the Institution are discussed below.

The monitoring committee suggested that, besides attending the training for e-purchase, the supporting staff and administrative staff members should strictly adhere to the code of ethics prescribed by the TamilNadu Government Servants Conduct rules while purchasing any equipment or consumables for the department and for establishing common facilities.

The supporting staff members are encouraged to attend refresher course on code of conduct and ethics to be followed in the lab. As an initiative, the technical staff from the Department of Industrial Biotechnology will be permitted to participate in these mandatory courses aimed at the proper handling of chemicals, cultures and disposal of biowaste in the laboratory. These staff can then disseminate their knowledge and learning to the students.

The committee commends the IQAC cell for organizing the webinar on "Career Guidance for Budding Engineers" during the inauguration of SQAC to enhance student career development activities. This initiative also focuses on imparting professional ethics and codes of conduct that students can apply in the companies where they are placed.

The meeting came to an end at 5.00 pm.

8. Student representatives – members

The chairman welcomes all the members of the monitoring committee. The members have reviewed the reports of all the committees. The proceedings adhered and not adhered to the code of conduct and ethics of the Institution are discussed below.

The annual report of the Anti-Gender Harassment Committee for the year was submitted, with nil report as no complaints were registered. This report shows that the students strictly adhere to the code of conduct of the Institution. The chairman appreciated the members of the committee for their efforts in achieving this positive result every year.

The Committee reviewed the reports of Disciplinary committee where two boys attempted to bring alcohol into the hostel, violated the Rule S.no.18, the rules and regulations applicable to boys and girls. As a result, disciplinary action was taken, and both students were expelled from the hostel.

To prevent such incidents in the future, the monitoring committee suggested that banners cited the side effects of alcohol and drug usage should be displayed in all boys' hostels. The Anti-drug Club of GCT should take the responsibility for preparing these banners and ensuring the display at the hostels.

The meeting came to an end at 5.00 pm.
